Limited mobility safaris are possible with planning. Pop-top vans and 4x4s can accommodate a wheelchair with advance notice, and some camps have ground level tents with masai mara group joining safari adapted bathrooms.

Long drives and rough tracks are the https://masaimarasafaripackages.net/group-joining-safari/ main constraint, so shorter drives with more stops work better than full day outings.

Walking safaris and balloon flights are usually not suitable. Confirm transfer assistance at airstrips, since steps and soft ground are common. Ask specific questions about door widths, bathroom access and vehicle ramps before booking. Accessible options are at %LINK%.
