Winter in the Roanoke Valley is rarely brutal, but it is messy. A few snowfalls, plenty of cold rain and roads treated with salt and brine all add up to a season of wet boots, gritty floors and salty residue tracked through entryways. For homes and businesses alike, a dependable cleaning service makes those months much easier to manage.

Keeping Floors Clean When the Weather Turns

Hard floors suffer most. Salt residue leaves a dull white film on tile, vinyl and hardwood, and grit acts like sandpaper underfoot. Regular mopping of hard-surface floors and vacuuming of carpets are core parts of The Happy Housekeepers standard residential checklist, and during winter those tasks matter more than ever. If you have hardwood with a manufacturer-recommended cleaner, the crew will use it at your request.

Entryways, mudrooms and kitchens take the brunt cleaning service Roanoke of winter traffic. During your estimate or follow-up call, you can ask for these areas to be prioritized throughout the season. Many Roanoke households move from monthly to bi-weekly visits from December through March, then return to their regular schedule in spring. The office can make that change easily, and the company offers one-time, weekly, bi-weekly and monthly plans.

The Happy Housekeepers | 5145 Starkey Rd, Roanoke, VA 24018 | (540) 774-4299

Businesses face the same challenge on a bigger scale. Office lobbies, medical waiting rooms and retail entrances in downtown Roanoke, Salem and along the Route 419 corridor can look grimy within hours on a wet day. The Corporate Clean division vacuums and mops hard floors, vacuums carpets and removes trash on daily, weekly, bi-monthly or monthly schedules. Daily service is often the best choice for high-traffic entrances during winter.

Winter also means more time indoors, more heating and more dust circulating through the house. Dusting window sills, baseboards, blinds and ceiling fans helps keep indoor air feeling fresher, and the company can add specialized services such as light fixture cleaning or wall and woodwork washing to brighten https://johnnymmre270.iamarrows.com/fall-cleaning-service-roanoke-before-the-holidays rooms during the darker months.
