

If you're remodeling, roofing, or tackling an extensive cleanout project, you might wonder: Can I throw batteries in a roll off dumpster? As a former jobsite logistics coordinator serving Hampton Roads for over a decade, I've seen firsthand how misunderstanding dumpster rules can lead to costly setbacks. Batteries are one of those tricky items that require special handling—especially when renting from a local company like D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC.

This guide will walk you through:

- Why batteries are considered prohibited and flammable items
- How D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC manages restricted items
- What fees you might encounter with restricted or hazardous waste
- Tips on booking your perfect dumpster size with upfront pricing and no hidden fees
- How to leverage online booking and quick delivery options

Batteries and Roll Off Dumpsters: What You Need to Know

Batteries of all types—alkaline, lithium-ion, lead-acid, rechargeable—are classified as flammable, hazardous materials. That's why they are batteries prohibited items when it comes to roll off dumpsters rented for residential or commercial cleanup. Throwing them in dumpsters can pose serious safety risks, including:

- Fire hazards due to chemical reactions or short-circuiting
- Environmental contamination from leaking heavy metals
- Potential fines or penalties if dumpsters are rejected by landfill and waste facilities

D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC strictly enforces these regulations because safety and compliance are their top priorities. Dumpsters rented through demmdumpsters.com come with clear rules built into your rental agreement related to batteries prohibited items and other flammable items not allowed.

Understanding Restricted Items and Pickup Fees

If you accidentally toss batteries or other restricted items in your roll off dumpster, you may face a restricted items pickup fee. This fee covers the additional handling and disposal costs associated demmdumpsters.com with removing hazardous materials safely. Some things to remember:

- Upfront Pricing: D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC provides transparent pricing with no hidden fees. However, restricted items like batteries may incur extra charges.
- Inspection and Discovery: The dumpster contents are often inspected before disposal. Restricted items discovered later can trigger pickup fees or require specialized processing.
- Client Responsibility: It's your responsibility to keep banned items like batteries out of the dumpster to avoid these extra fees.

If you're unsure whether a particular item is allowed, call D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC directly, where friendly, experienced staff can clarify restrictions and help you avoid costly mistakes.

Dumpster Sizes and Pricing: Choosing the Right Fit

When you book a dumpster through demmdumpsters.com, you can select from 10, 15, or 20 yard containers depending on your project size. Here's a quick overview of the popular 10-yard dumpster, including transparent pricing:

Dumpster Size	Rental Duration	Price
10 Yard Roll Off	3 days	$349
10 Yard Roll Off	7 days	$399
10 Yard Roll Off	14 days	$469

Each rental includes a set tonnage allowance, meaning you can fill the dumpster up to a certain weight without additional fees. If your dumpster contents exceed this tonnage, an overage cost per pound will apply, so keep that in mind when loading heavy debris.

How to Decide Which Size You Need

- 10 Yard Dumpster: Perfect for small remodels, cleanouts, or debris from a few roofing projects.
- 15 Yard Dumpster: Great for medium-sized renovations or landscape debris.
- 20 Yard Dumpster: Ideal for large-scale roofing projects, major home remodels, or multiple rooms being cleared out.

If you need assistance picking the right size, D.E.M.M. DUMPSTERS LLC offers a quick sizing consultation—just a phone call away.
