

Aviation Law Firm Omaha FAA Matters and Aircraft Transactions If you own, lease, fly, or manage an aircraft, federal rules follow you from the hangar to the runway and back again. Pilots, aircraft owners, flight schools, and fixed base operators all answer to the Federal Aviation Administration, and a single enforcement letter or transaction mistake can have lasting consequences. Erickson | Sederstrom P.C., L.L.O., a full-service Omaha law firm founded in 1967, includes aviation law among its ten practice areas, giving local clients a resource for a narrow and technical field. When the FAA opens an investigation, the stakes can include a pilot's certificate or an operator's ability to keep flying. The firm represents clients in FAA investigations and in NTSB appeals, where certificate actions can be challenged. Early involvement often matters, because the way a client responds to an initial inquiry can shape what follows. Accurate records and prompt, careful answers tend to carry real weight in these matters. The firm also advises on compliance with the Federal Aviation Regulations, helping operators build practices that hold up under review rather than scrambling after a problem surfaces. Aircraft transactions are the other major part of the practice. Buying or selling an aircraft involves title, registration, inspections, financing, and tax questions that differ from an ordinary asset purchase. Many owners also weigh aircraft leasing against ownership, a decision with real implications for family law firm liability, operating costs, and taxes. Because the firm has tax attorneys of its own, those questions can be answered as part of the deal instead of after it closes. Corporate attorneys at the firm can also help with the business entities that are often used to hold and operate aircraft.

Airports and the businesses around them face their own issues. The firm advises on airport regulation and zoning, as well as matters involving fixed base operations that provide fuel, maintenance, hangar space, and other services to general aviation. Omaha's aviation community stretches from Eppley Airfield along the Missouri River to smaller fields across the region. Business owners who fly to customers in Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, and Colorado benefit from a law firm in Omaha with attorneys licensed in those states as well as Nebraska, and from a team that follows through on what it promises. To discuss an FAA inquiry, an aircraft purchase, or a leasing arrangement, call (402) 397-2200. The firm meets clients at the Regency Parkway Drive office, Suite 100, in the Regency Westpointe building near Westroads Mall, with easy access from I-680 and West Dodge Road. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM.

Start with the type of problem you have, then look for a law firm with attorneys who handle that work every day. Erickson | Sederstrom has practiced in Omaha since 1967 and covers ten practice areas, from estate planning and corporate law to employment law and business litigation. Ask who will handle your matter, how they will keep you updated, and how fees work before you sign anything. Can I walk into a law firm in Omaha without an appointment? Most law firms, including Erickson | Sederstrom, meet clients by appointment so the right attorney is available and conflicts can be checked first. Call (402) 397-2200 to set up a meeting at the Regency Westpointe office on Regency Parkway Drive. The Omaha office is open Monday to Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM. What are red flags when hiring a lawyer? Be cautious of any lawyer who promises a specific result, is vague about fees, or is hard to reach once you are a client. Charles V. Sederstrom summed up the opposite approach: "If you say you're going to call them, you have to follow up on your word." Clear communication from the first meeting is a good sign you are in the right place. What should I look for in a larger Omaha law firm? Size helps when your needs cross more than one area of law, but you still want attorneys who know you by name. Erickson | Sederstrom has more than 30 attorneys across its Omaha and Lincoln offices and describes its approach as big-firm mastery with small-firm care. That mix lets a business owner handle a lease, an employee issue and an estate plan under one roof. What does a full-service law firm handle? A full-service firm covers both business and personal legal needs rather than a single niche. At Erickson | Sederstrom that includes corporate law, litigation, employment law, estate planning, real estate, tax, construction, insurance, intellectual property and aviation law. Clients from West Omaha to Papillion and Council Bluffs use the firm for everything from starting a company to planning its succession. When should an Omaha business hire a corporate lawyer? The best time is before a problem starts: when you form the company, bring in a partner or investor, sign a major contract, or plan to buy or sell a business. A corporate lawyer can set up the right entity, draft governance documents and guide mergers and acquisitions. Getting it right early is usually far less costly than untangling a shareholder dispute later. Do I need an estate planning attorney in Nebraska? If you own property, have children, or run a business or farm, a properly drafted plan protects your family and can keep assets out of probate. Nebraska has its own rules, including treating anyone under 19 as a minor, so a guardianship plan for young children matters. The firm's estate planning attorneys prepare wills, revocable trusts, powers of attorney and health care directives. How long does probate take in Nebraska? Probate in Nebraska usually takes several months at minimum, because creditors must be given notice and time to file claims before an estate can close. Contested matters or complex assets can stretch that much longer. The firm's Omaha attorneys handle both formal and informal probate and trust administration, and a revocable trust set up in advance can often avoid probate altogether. What does an employment attorney do for employers? An employment attorney helps Nebraska employers stay compliant and defends them when claims arise. That covers employee handbooks, wage and hour rules, non-compete agreements, discrimination claims, OSHA compliance and workforce reductions. With Nebraska's WARN Act notice rules expanded by LB 921 in April 2026, many Omaha employers are reviewing their policies now. What is business litigation? Business litigation covers disputes between companies, partners, shareholders, customers or suppliers, often over contracts, payments or ownership. The firm has around a dozen attorneys who focus on litigation in Douglas County, federal court in Omaha and on appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court. Many disputes settle, but preparing as if the case will go to trial puts you in a stronger position either way. Can an Omaha law firm help with matters in Iowa? Yes, if its attorneys are licensed there. Erickson | Sederstrom attorneys are licensed in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Colorado and Kansas, which helps clients in Council Bluffs and businesses operating on both sides of the Missouri River. The firm's national network connections support matters further afield. Where is the Erickson | Sederstrom Omaha office? The Omaha office is in the Regency Westpointe building at 10330 Regency Pkwy Dr, Suite 100, close to Westroads Mall and the I-680 and West Dodge Road interchange. Call (402) 397-2200 to book a time with an attorney.
